

Stop politicians double-dipping

1 message

Carson Binda - CTF BC Director <updates@taxpayer.com>
Reply-To: Carson Binda - CTF BC Director <updates@taxpayer.com>
To:

19 November 2024 at 13:07

Hi

Do you think that you should pay the same politicians twice?

Here's why I ask:

British Columbians elected 13 MLAs in the election last month who are already serving as mayors, city councillors, school board trustees and electoral area directors.

Some of them have already said that they'll step down from their municipal jobs, but several others want to stay on and do both jobs. That means that they could collect two paycheques from taxpayers: one paycheque for being an MLA and the other for being a city councillor or school board trustee.

This is your chance to tell Premier David Eby and Opposition Leader John Rustad that we shouldn't pay the same politicians twice.

When you click the automatic link below, a pre-addressed email will pop up. And when you hit send, it will BCC us because it helps us to know what people are telling politicians.

Will you tell Eby and Rustad that we shouldn't pay politicians twice?

- Yes - I want to email Eby and Rustad (Just click this link and a pre-addressed email will pop up).
- No – I don't want to tell Eby and Rustad not to pay politicians twice (you can tell us why by clicking this link).

Note: In case the automatic link isn't working on your device, here are the email address:

info@conservativebc.ca; contact@bcndp.ca

This is your chance to keep the wins rolling in.

Thanks for everything you do – you're making a difference.

Carson Binda
CTF British Columbia Director

P.S.: It only takes a minute to send Eby and Rustad an email to tell him what you think about their MLAs taking two taxpayer paycheques – here are their email address: info@conservativebc.ca, contact@bcndp.ca

Canadian Taxpayers
Federation